Highlights

Given the constant push of AYP, the district and its schools continue to work very hard to establish a positive learning environment and to improve school-community partnerships.

Currently there is a strong movement to replace a near 80 year old elementary school to allow students to experience a state-of-the-art learning environment.

Test scores continue to show marked improvement and the staff has progressively worked, putting in many extra hours, to see that this happens. The staff is dedicated to the fact their role as a catalyst is never ending in the search for academic excellence.

Progress Towards Meeting Goals

2004-05 Goals

Progress

Continue efforts to improve overall tests
Scores in line with state standards and Requirements of the NCLB.

Test score results continue to show varying degrees of improvement in all grade levels.

To continue to improve diversity awareness and improve understanding of multi-cultural ethnicities.

Continue to schedule cultural awareness activities and speakers as well as consultation from outside sources for teacher development in this area, i. e. offer to staff year long class in Coeur d'Alene tribal language.

Continue to improve attendance and student achievement through the district schools.

All three schools in the district average above 90% in ADA with the middle school leading the way with 96% ADA. The high school (9-12) has 40% plus students on the honor roll (3.00 gpa).

Continue to improve the academic learning environment in each school building.

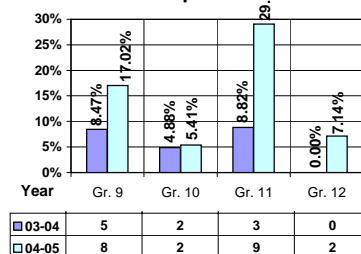

Working computer labs have been established in each school building. An attempt is in place to re-establish the SWIMS program (Students With Individual Mentoring Services). A Behavior Learning Academy (ISS) has been established in each building.
